To whom it may concern,

According to Swedish national legislation (the Food Act (SFS 2006:804) and the Food Decree (SFS 2006:813)), competent authorities for food control are either the municipalities or the Swedish Food Agency, depending on the type of establishment.

The [den kommunala myndighetens officiella engelska namn] is the competent authority for [anläggningen] and is thus authorized to issue official health certificates.
